Holiday Lake gets gift for Educational Center

An investment in the future! This is how Nationwide officials termed their presentation of a $10,000 pledge to Mrs. W. Goode Robinson, Past President of Holiday Lake 4-H Educational Center, Inc., on January 11, 1982.

The 157 acre 4-H camp is currently renovating and expanding its facilities in order to serve more people on a year-round basis. The camp has been serving a nineteen county area of central Virginia since 1941.

"Nationwide realizes that our youth are our most important resources and the great role Holiday Lake 4-H Center plays in developing our youth of central Virginia into well-rounded productive citizens," commented Stanley Wilmoth, Regional Sales Superintendent for Nationwide.

Mrs. W. Goode Robinson, in accepting the pledge on behalf of the Board of Directors, expressed appreciation of Nationwide's support of this important expansion project. The people of central Virginia will benefit from the improved facilities as a result of the Holiday Lake 4-H Educational Center development and expansion program.

Interesting academics

One of the many problems faced by today's teachers is how to make academics not only interesting to the student but relevant to the student's everyday world. Miss Brenda Hamlette has covered both these areas with success in her 8th grade math classes. Her students are being given some first hand knowledge and experience with some of the situations they will come across in the world of work. Miss Hamlette's students began by selecting a job in which they were interested, one perhaps in which they might venture as an adult. Upon selecting a job students had to prepare a resume of their qualifications for such a position. After preparing a resume the next step would be for an applicant to have a personal interview, conducted by Mrs. Edith McCormick, Miss Hamlette's aide. The "President of the firm" Miss Hamlette, selected or rejected the applicants on the basis of their response during the interview.

If an applicant is accepted for a job, certain job requirements must be fulfilled and maintained. For instance, the work done in class is comenserate with the difficulty of the occupation and a certain grade level must be maintained. Fulfillment of the necessary requirements is the basis for determining the weekly salary. As in any occupation, promptness is one of the requirements. Each day as the students enter and leave class they must sign in, a system similar to "punching the clock." Completion of requirements such as promptness, and adequate classwork earns the students points which are converted into a monetary salary, the basis of the weekly paycheck. Inability to meet requirements results in a "dock in pay."

Thought, extensive planning and work are required to implement this idea, the rewards are well worth the time and effort involved: student motivation and increased learning.

Raider Review

Enough of this snow!!!

By JANE GUILL

A student's dream is for it to snow and accumulate enough so there will not be any school. At Appomattox County High School we are tired of snow, (at least I think we are.) Exams have been scheduled and rescheduled. As it is now, exams will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Good luck to everyone who is taking exams.

Congratulations to the Junior Varsity and Varsity Raiders for an exciting win over Rustburg. A victory is always good, but a victory over the Red Devils is great.

Seniors at ACHS have been busy selling drinks at the home basketball games. The money raised will go toward expenses for the Senior trip. This year the seniors have chosen Pennsylvania for their first choice, and the Worlds Fair is their second choice. Another moneymaking event will be a Valentines dance sponsored by the seniors. The dance will be February 13, with music by RoleR.

With graduation only five months away the seniors have already begun making plans. The senior class officers have chosen the company from which the announcements will be ordered. Last Thursday seniors voted on the senior superlatives. The results will be printed in the March edition in the Raider Report.

The Latin Club has been trying to sponsor a dance for the past two weeks, but due to inclement weather it has continuously been postponed.

Congratulations to Stella Osborne, a senior at ACHS, who won honorable mention in a poetry contest recently sponsored by Hollins College. The poetry contest was statewide. Stella was also the winner of the recent poetry contest sponsored by the Raider Report at ACHS.

Forage meet set

The annual forage conference for the Southern Piedmont area is scheduled for January 28, 1982 at the Southern Piedmont Research and CEC, Blackstone. Co-sponsoring the event will be the Virginia Forage and Grassland Council and the Virginia Tech Extension Division.

As always, one of the highlights of the program will be a report by the recipient of the VFGC Outstanding Forge Producer Award. This year's winner, Mr. Joe Hazelgrove, Cumberland County dairyman will describe his forage program.

A great deal of interest has developed in utilizing soybean and milo mixtures for silage. Dr. Scott Carr will start the program by discussing latest research and recommendations on this crop. Dr. Harlan White will describe the many varied and effective ways for utilizing small grains in the forage program.

Dr. John Gerken will explain how anhydrous ammonia can be applied to hay and silage and the resulting effects on storage and feeding which can be expected. With increasing alfalfa acreage, the need for techniques for establishing this forage without plowing and preparing a fine seed bed becomes for establishing this forage without plowing and preparing a fine seed bed becomes even more critical. Dr. Dale Wolf will report the latest advances in this technology.

Weeds and insects are constant concerns for forage producers. Dr. Scott Hagood will discuss weed control recommendations and Mr. John Luna will describe ways to control insects effectively and economically.

Everyone is invited to take part in the conference, beginning at 9:30 a.m. and adjourning by 3 p.m.

For public comment

USDA extends review period

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has extended its public review period for the proposed conservation program until January 29, 1982.

More than a thousand Virginians have mailed in their responses on the proposed national soil and water conservation program outlined by the Secretary of Agriculture, reports Manly S. Wilder, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service (SCS). Comments are begin received by Wilder's office in Richmond. Wilder was designated by the Secretary of Agriculture to collect the comments in Virginia, summarize them and forward them to Washington.

The comments were in response to a proposed national program for conservation requested by Congress in the Soil and Water Resources Conservation Act of 1977 (RCA). The final program will be issued after comments from all across the United States are considered by Agriculture Secretary John Block.

For more information on the proposed program and to obtain a response form for mailing your comments, contact your local SCS or ASCS office by this Friday.

Adult Ed underway

The Adult Education program for second semester for the most part got underway this week in the Appomattox County School Division. "Adults who have not registered and who desire to take a class may still enroll in any of the classess offered this semester. Classes for adults are taught on an individualized basis and adults will not be at any disadvantages by enrolling now," states R. B. Carter, Adult Education Coordinator. In several classes additional enrollment is needed if the class is to continue. The Appomattox County School Board reserves the right to cancel classes where enrollment is less than ten persons. Adults are urged to take advantage of the many opportunities offered through the Adult Education Program.

Persons desiring to enroll in a class or who want information concerning adult education classes may call 352-8253 between the hours of 8:30 and 5:00.

Night class policies

The policy governing cancellation of adult education classes in Appomattox County is that adult classes will be cancelled if school is closed that day for students. This policy, states R. B. Carter, Director of Vocational Education, will tend to eliminate confusion that may exist since most adults work but usually know about school closing. When weather condition occur in late afternoon or early evening that tend to make driving hazardous, even if school has operated that day, the class will be cancelled. The cancellation of classes will not reduce the time available for adults since all adult classes are scheduled for a specific number of hours. It simply means that the class will operate over a longer period of time.

In times of uncertainty, adults are asked to contact the teacher of the class or call the School Board Office at 352-8253 for information.

'If I had a money tree'

Jessica Megginson

The following poem was written by Jessica Megginson, 8, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Megginson Jr. of Richmond. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Megginson Sr. of Appomattox and Thomas M. Richardson and the late Mrs. Richardson.

If I Had A Money Tree

If I had a money tree,
I'd give and give and give money to others so they could live.
I'd give some to my Grandma
to help them run the farm and all while I was giving.
I'd hope it'd do no harm.
I'd give some to my Papa
so it would not be hard.
To stop the building highway
from taking up his yard.
I'd give some to my Aunt Jane, in hopes that she would choose to help her to stop gaining the weight
that she should loose.
I'd give some to the Beales in hopes that they would cheer up.
So I can send my cousin,
on his way to Europe.
I'd give some to my teacher
so she could earn and earn and earn lots and lots of money
to help us children learn.
I'd give some to my Pastor.
I will not break a rule.
I'll even give some money
to my Sunday School.

Just if I had a money tree
that belonged to me.
Think of what a happy Christmas it would be!
